NUMBER 1 JANUARY-FEBRUARY

Speaking rates of American and New Zealand varieties of English M. P. Robb, M. A. MacLagan and Y. Chen	1
Prosodic disturbance in aphasia: speech timing versus intonation production S. A. Seddoh	17
Imitation of nonwords by hearing-impaired children with cochlear implants: segmental analyses C. M. Dillon, M. Cleary, D. B. Pisoni and A. K. Carter	39
Alternating motion rate as an index of speech motor disorder in traumatic brain injury Y.-T. Wang, R. D. Kent, J. R. Duffy, J. E. Thomas and G. Weismer	57

NUMBER 2 MARCH

The production of linguistic prosodic structures in subjects with right hemisphere damage J. P. Walker, R. Pelletier and L. Reif	85
Conversational profiles of children with ADHD, SLI and typical development S. M. Redmond	107
Token-to-token variability in developmental apraxia of speech: three longitudinal case studies T. P. Marquardt, A. Jacks and B. L. Davis	127
Phonological and language disorders in children who stutter: impact on treatment recommendations M. A. Nippold	145

NUMBER 3 APRIL-MAY

Grammatical performance of children with language disorder on structured elicitation and narrative tasks A. Hesketh	161
Phonological acquisition in preschoolers learning a second language via immersion: a longitudinal study R. T. Anderson	183
Equal appearing interval and visual analogue scaling of perceptual roughness and breathiness E. M.-L. Yiu and C.-Y. Ng	211

NUMBERS 4-5 JUNE/JULY-AUGUST

Editorial: phonetic and phonological perspectives on speech production in cleft lip and palate S. Howard	231
Is presurgery and early postsurgery performance related to speech and language outcomes at 3 years of age for children with cleft palate? K. L. Chapman	235
The impact of early infant jaw-orthopaedics on early speech production in toddlers with unilateral cleft lip and palate A. Lohmander, M. Lillvik and H. Friede	259
Abnormal patterns of tongue-palate contact in the speech of individuals with cleft palate F. E. Gibbon	285
Compensatory articulatory behaviours in adolescents with cleft palate: comparing the perceptual and instrumental evidence S. Howard	313
Single-word intelligibility in speakers with repaired cleft palate T. L. Whitehill and C. H.-F. Chau	341

NUMBERS 6-8 SEPTEMBER-DECEMBER

Editorial: Professor William Hardcastle F. Gibbon and J. Laver	357
Part 1. Clinical Phonetics/Speech Pathology
EPG therapy for children with long-standing speech disorders: predictions and outcomes P. Carter and S. Edwards	359
Advances in EPG for treatment and research: an illustrative case study J. M. Scobbie, S. E. Wood and A. A. Wrench	373
Articulatory placement for /t/, /d/, /k/ and /g/ targets in school age children with speech disorders associated with cleft palate F. E. Gibbon, L. Ellis and L. Crampin	391
Connected speech processes in developmental speech impairment: observations from an electropalatographic perspective S. Howard	405
Articulatory variability during consonant production by Greek speakers with hearing impairment: an electropalatographic study K. Nicolaidis	419

Introducing the pressure-sensing palatograph – the next frontier in electropalatography B. E. Murdoch, J. V. Goozée, M. Veidt, D. H. Scott and I. A. Meyers	433
Phonetic and phonological analysis of progressive speech degeneration: a case study M. J. Ball, C. Code, J. Tree, K. Dawe and J. Kay	447
Reliability and applicability of aerodynamic measures in dysphonia assessment E. M.-L. Yiu, Y.-M. Yuen, T. Whitehill and A. Winkworth	463
Part 2. Phonetics/Speech Production
Organic and performance components in vocal and non-vocal communication: unifying concepts of description and interpretation J. M. Beck and J. Laver	479
The uniqueness of speech among motor systems R. D. Kent	495
Functional segments in tongue movement M. Stone, M. A. Epstein and K. Iskarous	507
Gradient change in the acquisition of phonology N. Hewlett and D. Waters	523
The interface between phonetic and lexical abilities in early Cantonese language development P. Fletcher, C. W.-Y. Chan, P. T.-T. Wong, S. Stokes, T. Tardif and S. C.-S. Leung	535
'Fortis/lenis' revisited one more time: the aerodynamics of some oral stop contrasts in three continents A. Butcher	547
Speaker-specific kinematic properties of alveolar reductions in English and German B. Kühnert and P. Hoole	559
An EMA/EPG study of vowel-to-vowel articulation across velars in Southern British English J. Fletcher	577
Darkness in [ɪ] as a scalar phonetic property: implications for phonology and articulatory control D. Recasens	593
On the distinction between Norwegian /ɧ/ and /ç/ from a phonetic perspective H. G. Simonsen and I. Moen	605
